THEY KNEW ME NOT,

From

"Songs of the Sea Nymphs & Scenes in fairy land"

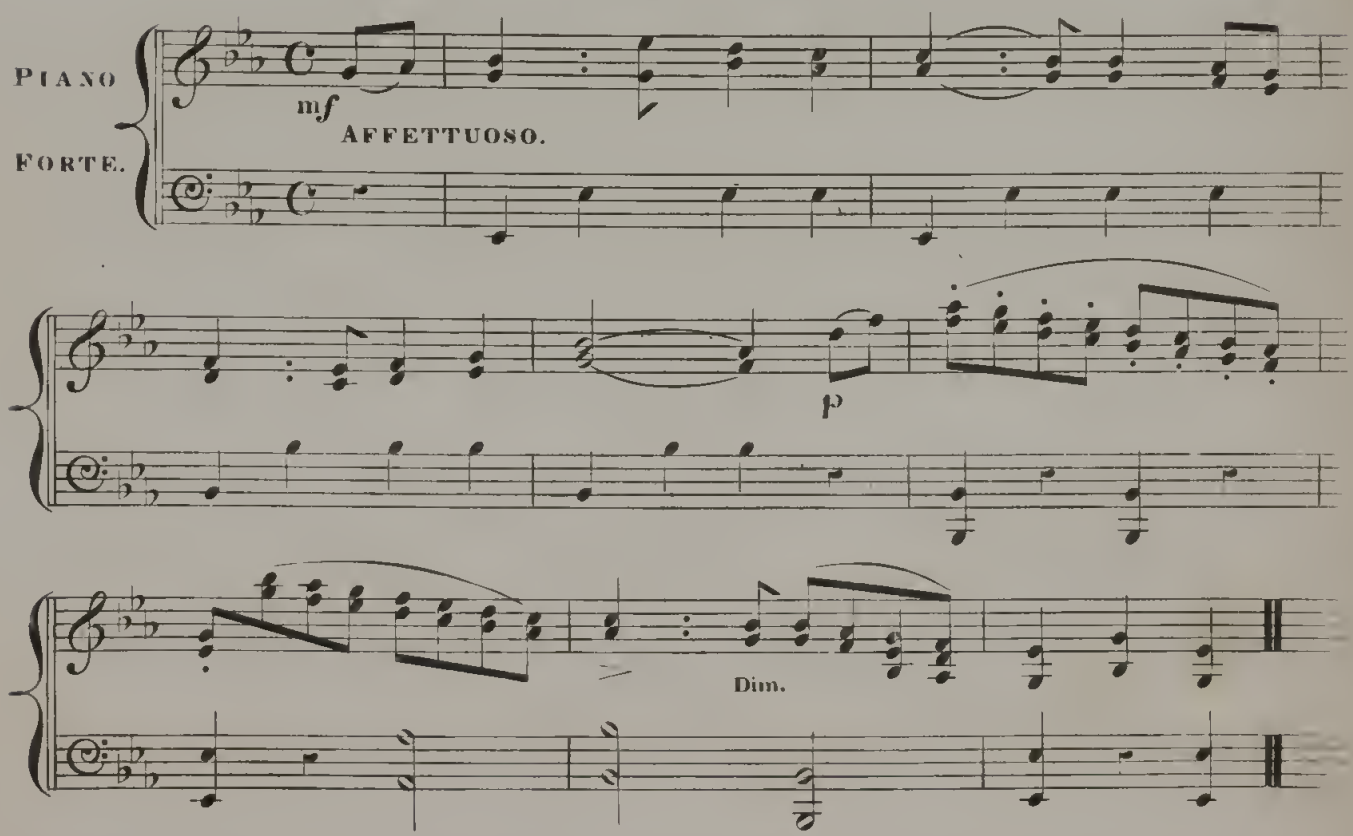
by

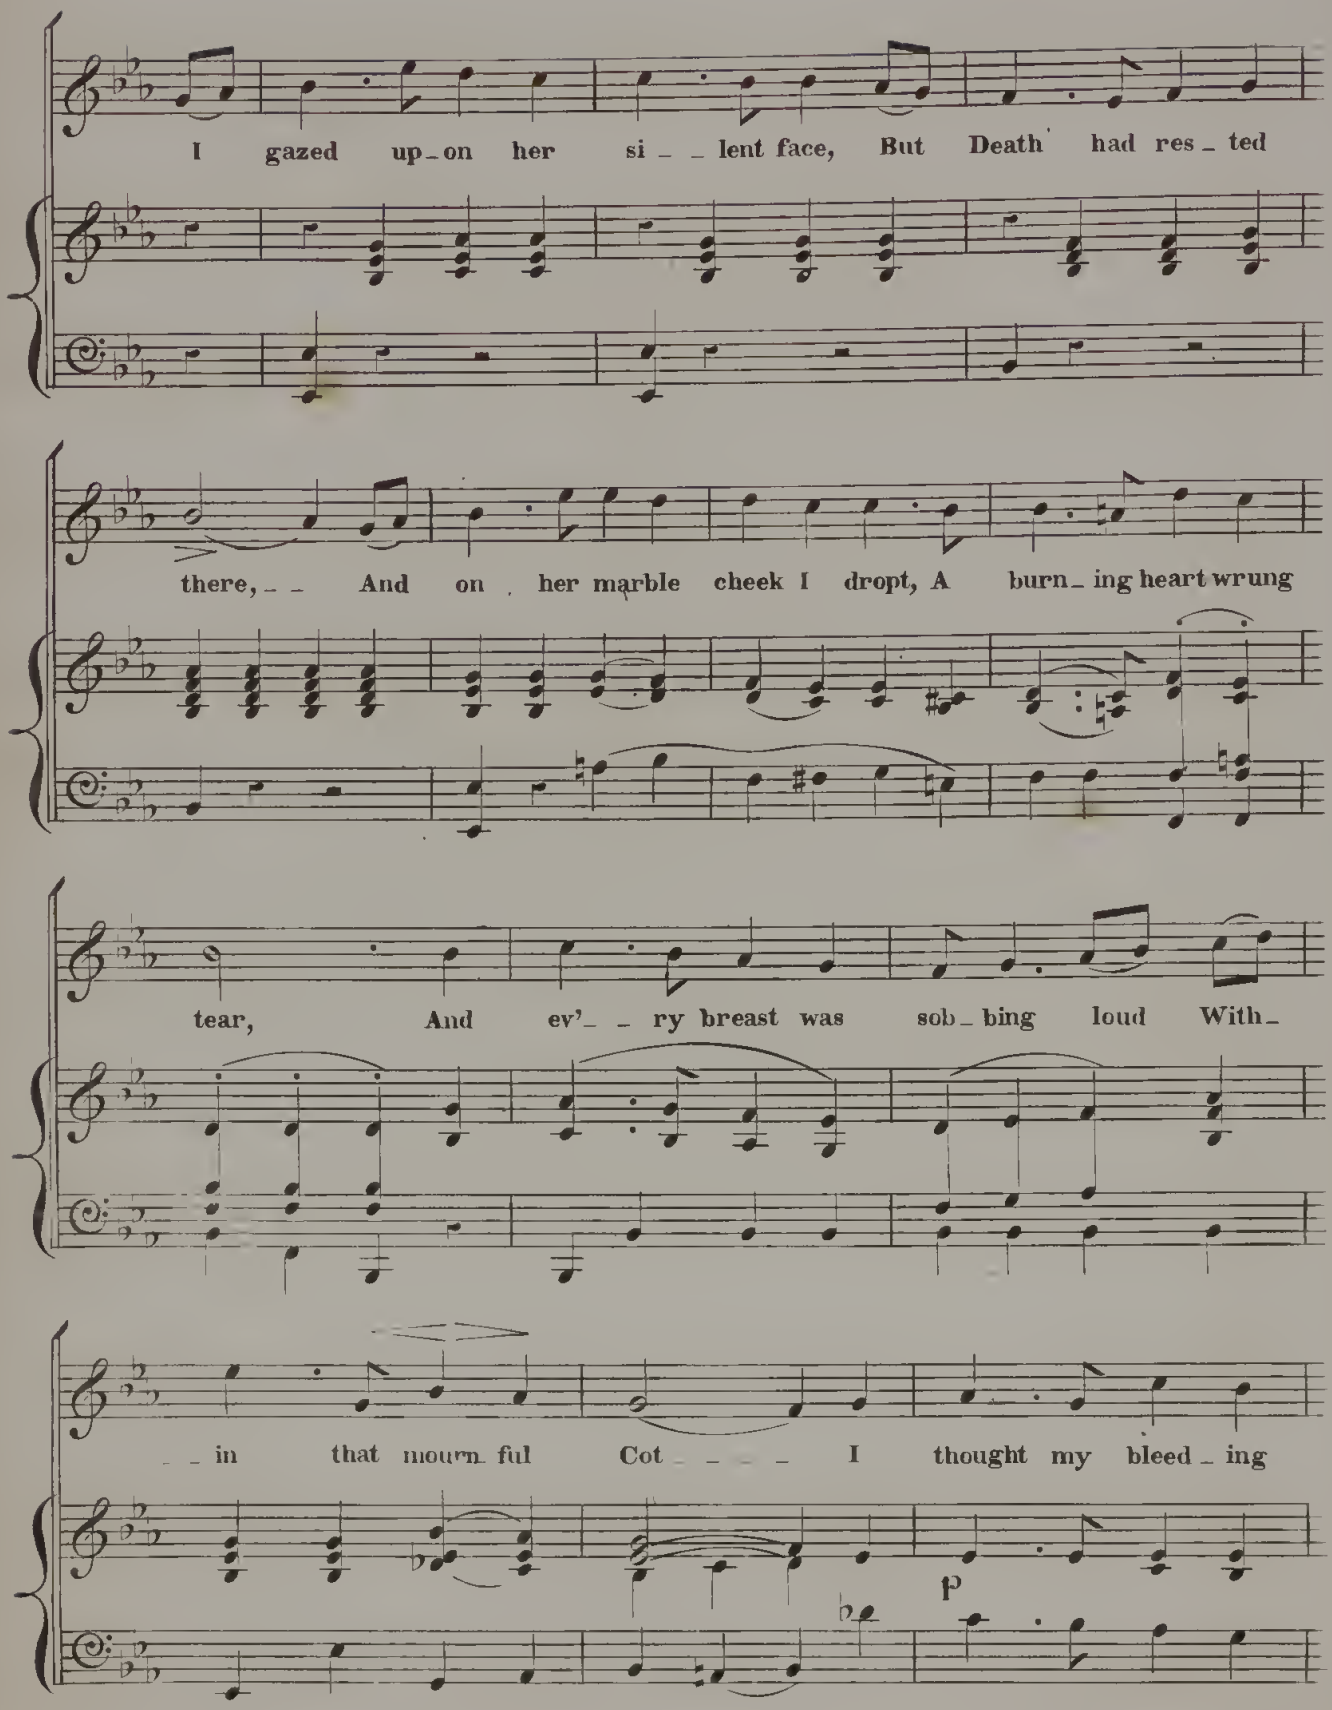
Mr. T. Millar,

The Music Composed by

S. CÖDÉ.

NEW YORK, Published by JAMES L. HEWITT & Cº 137 Broadway.





I gazed up_on her si _ _ lent face, But Death had res _ ted there, _ _ And on her marble cheek I dropt, A burn_ing heart wrung tear, And ev'_ _ ry breast was sob_bing loud With_ _ _ in that mourn_ful Cot _ _ _ _ I thought my bleed_ing
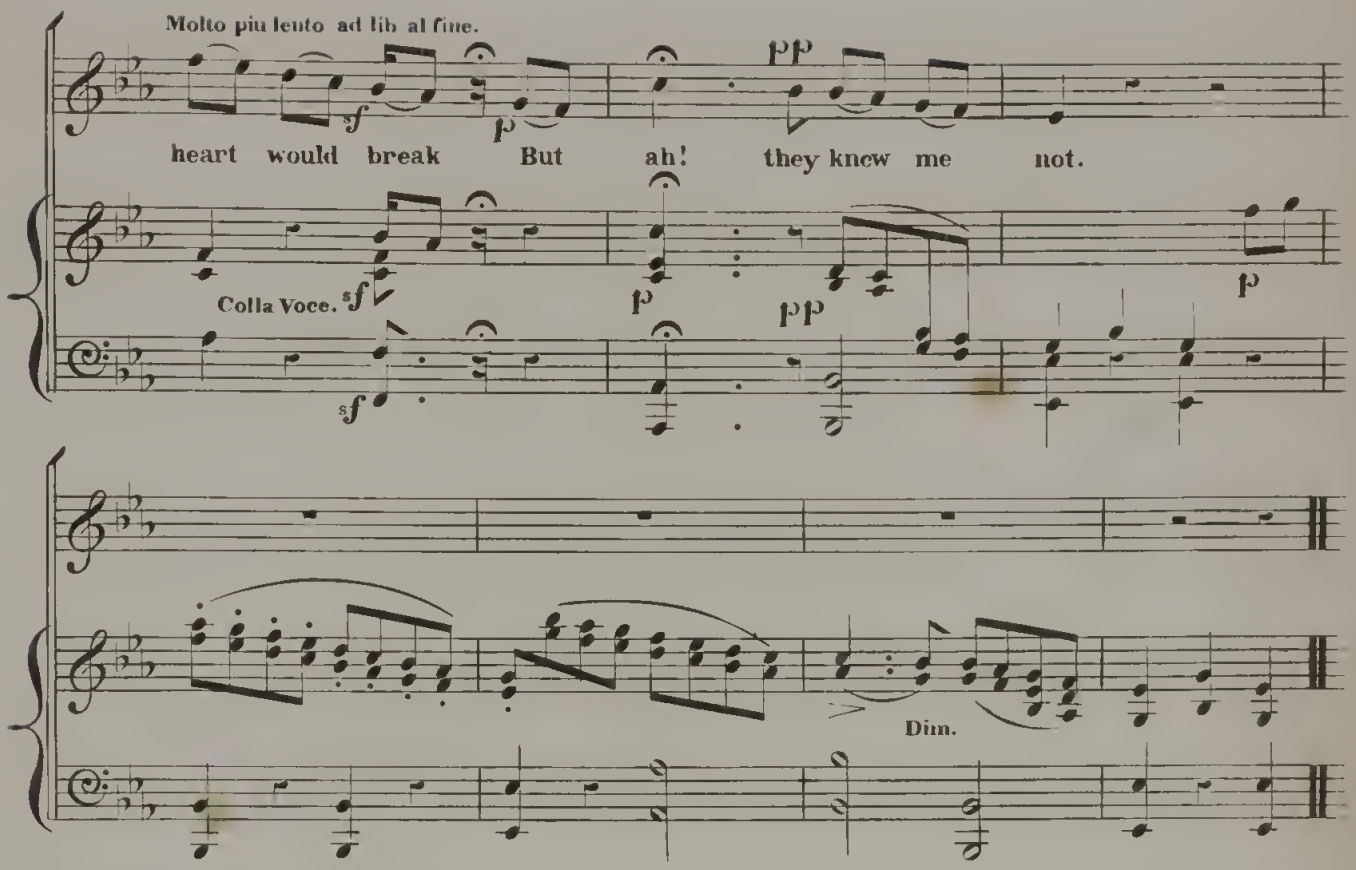
p



2

I saw those lips I oft had kiss'd,
Like faded roses lie,
I gazed upon her cold white breast,
And heav'd a deep, deep sigh;
I thought how once that bosom beat
When seated in her grot,
And I recall'd my broken vow
But ah! they knew me not.

3

I bent to kiss her placid brow,
All eyes on me did gaze,
Save those which had for ever closed
Their brightly piercing rays;
I saw them strew around her bier
Wild flow'rs and knew the spot,
Where once they bloom'd— I saw no more
But ah! they knew me not.